Susan K. Neuman is one of the country's leading experts on environmental insurance for owners, buyers, and developers of contaminated properties, or Brownfields.

She began her legal career as an Associate in the Environmental Practice Group of a large law firm where she litigated CGL coverage actions and actions involving pollution legal liability (PLL) policies on behalf of AIG and other environmental insurers. She also gained experience in drafting restrictive versions of the PLL policies. Later, she worked in-house at an insurance company as head of product development in drafting and developing all types of specialty lines coverages, including some of the new insurance products that emerged at the beginning of the Brownfields Movement.

Since 1997, she has used her policy drafting and legal coverage skills as an environmental insurance broker to ensure the success of numerous contaminated property transactions by tailoring the policies to fit specific risks.
