With more than 25 years of experience as a litigator, primarily in the area of insurance defense, Renee Himmel brings tremendous expertise to Hickey Smith Dodd clients in the areas of automobile liability and premises liability. Her other areas of experience include general liability, construction defense, medical malpractice, real estate, foreclosure, and immigration.

Before joining Hickey Smith Dodd, Renee managed her own private practice. In addition, she previously served as a litigation associate with a New York-based law firm, which specializes in insurance defense, handling matters from inception to resolution, including trial.

Renee has successfully handled a variety of commercial property premises liability matters, resulting in dismissal of the actions against her clients.

Renee is a member of the Nassau County Bar Association.
